DP Makes a Big Push Heading into Week 14

BD Gives Up Some Precious Traction; Holds Lead by One Game

Effective date: 2015-12-07

DP was clearly inspired by my message last week, taking my words to heart and turning in a performance that has him only one game back from our constant leader, BD. DP turned in a 10 winner week, and more importantly, took full advantage of his four GOO this week against BD, going 3-1 to pick up two games and settle himself, solo, in second place. SS picked up a game on BD as well, and finds himself alone in third place at only two games back. Of the top four, BS had the biggest GOO performance against BD, and whilst he remains in fourth place, he picked up a crucial three games on BD and is now only three games back. JD and LF also picked up a few games on our leader BD and are now six games out; a challenge, no doubt, but not impossible with four weeks left to go. Lots of movement!

Along with BS, JD, and LF, DR and MS led all pickers with 11 winners this week. Well picked, gentlemen! DP, SR and CM rounded out the double-digit club with 10 winners each. NF continues his pursuit of becoming the PFVCC's all-time Loner Pick picker, both total and successful, in his only first season of PFVCC. With two successful Loner Picks this week (9ers over the Bears and Dallas over Washington), NF now has seven successful Loner Picks this season. SR is also very deserving of props for his unlikely pick of the Eagles over the Patriots. Kudos!

Week 14 is now billing itself as the most crucial week, thus far, of the season. Will we have a new leader next week, or will BD dig deep and beat back those who vie for her thrown?

Happy Picking

JP